ARMY

- After being encircled by a superior Chinese Communist force and suffering heavy losses, the Anti-Communist Guerrilla New 8 Army* in the vicinity of Manning has dispersed to the border region of Yungshun (108-54, 22-48) and Lingshan (110-36, 22-41). The troops were led out of the encirclement by PENG lei-ch'ing (施 底 清) and SU Po-ch'ing (旅 底 清) after the army commander SU Ju-min (底 液 氏),* had committed suicide.
- Guerrilla units of CHOU Hsiung () 以 旋) and HI Min-chiang (如 代定) are still in the Lungan (107-36, 23-10) and Kuote (107-32, 23-21) region, raiding Communist water and land traffic along the Yu River. Guerrillas in the Wuming (108-15, 23-12), Nama (108-14, 23-38), and Pingchih (107-31, 23-45) areas have been forced to withdraw into the mountainous region of the Tunglan (107-22, 21-34) and Fengshan (107-07, 24-32) area.
- lost of the guerrillas of the 125 and 126 Armies of the 11 Army Group in the Liuchou area have been annihilated by Communist forces. Small guerrilla elements have withdrawn to the area near Hsianghsien (109-36, 21-00) and Hsiujen (110-01, 21-21). HO Tsung-chao (何 宋朝), commander of the 128 Army, and his unit are in the mountainous region near Locheng (108-54, 21-17).
- Guerrilla units under LI Jui-hung (李 瑞 点), CHOU Kuo-chih (周 成 治), LU Chao (陸起), and LU Shen (盧 森), in the Pinglo (110-28, 21-36), Chungshan (111-09, 24-32), and Mengshan (110-27, 21-08) regions have resumed activities after having been suppressed by the Communists. About one-half of the guerrilla personnel lost in the suppression campaign have been replaced, but the units are short of arms and ammunition.
- Since the capture of the 171 Division under LIU Ching-tang (劉 謹堂), the Tunghsiang (109-51, 23-36) and Sanchiang (109-52, 23-32) areas in Yaoshan have been re-occuried by the Communists. The 172 and 173 Guerrilla Divisions have moved into the region bordering Laipin (109-16, 23-42) and Luhsuan (109-30, 23-36)。 Guerrilla units of HUANG P'in-chiung (黃 品 項) and CHANG huo-ts'ai (張 國 材) are still in the mountainous area east of P'enmua (鵬化).
